RE: Flying Tigers Film Proposals

Dear Alan:

If my late husband, Max Chennault, were still alive, I know he would support your efforts to tell the story of the life of his father, General Claire Lee Chennault. I thank you for the opportunity to read your Flying Tigers film proposals. You are correct. The story surrounding the formation of the American Volunteer Group and their fighting against superior numbers of Japanese aircraft is a story that needs to be told. I endorse your efforts in promoting a film that would tell the story of General Chennault and his band of pilots and volunteers who were known as "The Flying Tigers." I have provided you with my scrapbook on General Chennault and the Flying Tigers and my collection of photographs depicting them and their activities. You are authorized to employ my photographs, newspaper clippings, and other materials as you develop any manuscript, script, or film proposal that deals with General Chennault or the Flying Tigers.

Sincerely,

Edna Chennault
